Cricket™ Laptop Stand Selected as Cherry Pick at 2008 CES

Identified as one of hottest new products at the Consumer Electronics Show

Easton, PA—Jan. 6, 2008—Innovative Office Products, Inc. (www.lcdarms.com), is proud to announce that the Cricket™ Laptop Stand has been selected as a 2008 Cherry Pick at the annual Consumer Electronics Show (CES) in Las Vegas.

Cherry Picks are announced by the media organization Newtips, and identify the coolest new products debuting at CES. Selections are announced on the eve of the show opening to an audience of premiere national journalists.

The Cricket™ Laptop Stand is the world's first completely portable, height-adjustable laptop stand. Cricket™ allows the user to create the comfort of a desktop PC system anyplace that he or she wishes to work by boosting the screen to a natural viewing height.

"We are pleased that Cricket™ has been recognized as a 2008 Cherry Pick," said Bud Oddsen, president of Innovative Office Products. "We believe that this product is a natural fit for the consumer electronics market and look forward to demonstrating its benefits."
