IBM Announces Next Generation Kiosk... Innovative Mounts Are Compatible

Innovative mounts an ideal combination with the world's most popular point-of-sale kiosk

Easton, Pa. – Sept. 25, 2007 –Today IBM announced the launch of the second generation AnyPlace kiosk, the premier all-in-one computer solution for self-service and retail applications. The new AnyPlace kiosk contains numerous improvements, including additional ports and options for wireless capability, while maintaining the extremely durable and compact form factor of the original model.

Innovative Office Products Inc. (www.LCDarms.com), IBM's lead mounting partner, is pleased to announce the availability of numerous mounting solutions compatible with the AnyPlace kiosk. Innovative's products enable the AnyPlace kiosk to be wall- or counter-mounted, saving valuable space while adding user flexibility.

Both IBM and Innovative products will be shown at the KioskCom Self Service Expo, to be held October 23-24, 2007 at the Javits Convention Center in New York City.
